Girl writes to boy. Girl and boy correspond throughout their lives. Love Letters, A.R. Gurney’s beloved play about two people who grow up in love with each other's writing, is as much a celebration of the power of the written word as it is to love itself. Poetic, elegant, funny and profoundly touching, Love Letters shows that, despite how things seem, what divides us is rarely as powerful as what connects us.</li> </ul> |                       |
